Organizations need tools that can securely connect, manage and protect users, devices and networks. Your organization may be leveraging a solution designed for Windows to secure Mac or a unified endpoint management solution to manage all ecosystems.

As more users are working from home and leveraging networks with unknown security postures to access sensitive data, additional tools are needed to ensure devices and networks remain secure.

Jamf Protect is the enterprise solution organizations need to prevent, detect and remediate threats so endpoints, users and networks remain protected.
